

The NZIIA is a nation-wide voluntary organisation aiming to inform members and the wider public of New Zealand's place in the world and of our foreign relations.

Become a member and enjoy the opportunity to hear from well qualified speakers at monthly meetings in Masterton.

Meetings are open to the public and speakers are chosen to present a knowledgeable view on a range of subjects. These include trade, strategic threats and opportunities, international trends and conflicts.

Members include a wide range of active and retired individuals who form an informed audience and often stimulate discussion based on the speaker's presentation.

The national organisation publishes a bi-monthly magazine – The NZ International Review which is an option at additional subscription cost.
